Report on 13th Pre-ICIS Annual Workshop on HCI Research in MIS

Over 40 people participated at the Thirteenth Annual Workshop on HCI Research in MIS, held in Auckland New Zealand on December 14, 2014. The workshop attracted 34 submissions, which included 14 completed research papers, 16 research-in-progress papers, 2 posters, and 2 PhD student roundtables. After a rigorous review process, 14 research papers were accepted for presentation at the workshop, a 42% acceptance rate. The workshop also included 6 poster presentations. In addition, the workshop featured a panel discussion on HCI & Mobile Computing Research Opportunities in Asia Pacific led by Zhenhui "Jack" Jiang. We were excited to offer PhD round table discussions for the second consecutive year, where senior faculty provided feedback to doctoral students conducting HCI research in MIS.

The best paper award nominees were:
- "Explaining Customers' Utilitarian and Hedonic Perceptions in the Context of Product Search within Social Network-Enabled Shopping Websites" by Camille Grange & Izak Benbasat.
- "Successful System-use: It's Not Just Who You Are, But What You Do" by James Gaskin & Stephen Godfrey.

The best paper award went to James Gaskin and Stephen Godfrey.

The best reviewer award nominees were:
- Sonia Camacho, Universidad de los Andes, School of Management (Bogotá, Colombia)
- Martha Grabowski, LeMoyne College/Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute
- Addas Shamel, IESEG School of Management

The best reviewer award went to Sonia Camacho.

Report on 13th Pre-ICIS Annual Workshop on HCI Research in MIS

An Outstanding Service Award was given to Richard Johnson for his outstanding leadership as the Chair of SIGHCI (2013-2014) and as the Co-Chair of SIGHCI workshops at ICIS 2013 and 2014.

A special thank you goes to Anna McNab, the Secretary and Treasurer of SIGHCI. She efficiently managed the entire workshop onsite, successfully hosted the SIGHCI business meeting, and provided very valuable feedback to the workshop co-chairs. We truly appreciate her dedication to the workshop and her enthusiasm!

We would also like to thank the two PhD student volunteers, Bart Knijnenburg and Samira Farivar. Especially, Bart did an amazing job helping out, taking pictures, and having a tremendous positive impact on the entire day.

Review: HCI Track at ICIS 2014

Human-Computer Interaction Track at the International Conference on Information Systems (ICIS) 2014
Auckland, New Zealand, December 14-17, 2014
Track Co-Chairs:
Cheri Speier-Pero, Michigan State University
Weiquan Wang, State University Hong Kong

The HCI track at ICIS 2014 received 51 submissions, both research-in-process and completed papers. Of those, 6 completed papers and 8 research in progress were accepted. An overall acceptance rate of 27%. The research in progress papers were all presented in a single session while the completed papers were presented in two sessions.

Review: HCI Mini Track at HICSS' 15

HCI: Informing Design Utilizing Behavioral, Neurophysiological, and Design Science Methods mini track at HICSS 2015
Annual Hawaii Conference on System Sciences Hawaii, January 5-8, 2015
Track Chairs:
Christoph Schneider, City University Hong Kong
Joe Valacich, University of Arizona
Angelika Dimoka, Temple University

The 10th Annual SIGHCI-sponsored HICSS mini-track was held January 5-8, 2015 in Kauai, at the Grand Hyatt. The mini-track had 11 papers accepted for presentation at the conference (39% acceptance rate); one accepted paper was withdrawn by the authors shortly before the conference. These remaining 10 papers were split across three sessions, which were very well-attended. Three of top papers have been invited for the fast-tracking review process at AIS Transactions on Human-Computer Interaction. All author teams invited for fast-tracking have expressed interest in pursuing this opportunity. Many thanks to both the authors and reviewers who helped.
